Multimedia Lab (MMLab) (updated 4/16/2024)

- Commercial use of the MMLab is strictly prohibited.
- Only currently-enrolled students with a valid Husky Card will be admitted to the MMLab.
- Multimedia Lab assistants are available to assist with the hardware and software. They may assist students with their projects as time allows but WILL NOT perform the work on the project.
- During peak times of usage, class projects have a priority over personal use by students.
- During peak times, to ensure access to stations, appointments will be limited to 2-hour blocks.
- Headphones may be required on workstations.
- Printing in the MMLab is limited to multimedia projects. The computers are not configured for printing to the other labs' printers and are only networked to one standalone printer. Color printing of proofs is limited to three copies (free).
- Content left on MMLab computers will periodically (and at the end of the quarter) be deleted by staff. Arrangements must be made for extended project storage.
- Users may not display images, sounds or messages on public screens that could create an atmosphere of discomfort for others.
